Our Town

If the Democrats of Texas deliver to Governor Neff the 40 delegates to the National Convention to use as he sees fit in the selection of a standard bearer for Democracy it would mean an undeserved and unjustifiable rebuke to both McAdoo and Underwood who for a number of years have done more to advance the cause of the party than perhaps any other men in the nation. It is inconceivable that the Democracy of Texas will permit the governor to place his own political ambitions to take precedence over such as these. Uninstructed delegations are the very antithesis of Democracy, and for our delegates to become a commodity for the purpose of bargain in the convention is unthinkable when the Democrats may speak their choice in the conventions of precinct and county. We believe in a definite Democracy, well founded in party principles and unimpaired by fourtune hunters of doubtful ability and unstable prospects. If at any time it has appeared logical that we send an uninstructed delegation that conception seems to have been removed by recent developments in Texas. While the Governor is sowing seeds of discord in Texas we trust they have fallen upon barren ground and that the Democracy that gave to the age Woodrow Wilson will find its duty no less clear in the business of selecting a candidate for the party.

Dr. A. S. Epperson has retired as President and member of the Cameron School Board after more than a decade of service rendered the people in a place of signal responsibility. To such men the community owes a debt of gratitude and we feel that the sentiment universally among the people is one of grateful appreciation. In retiring Dr. Epperson leaves a monument high, chisled as if some master had wrought its image. The crown of service is the most glorious of all achievements and is the avenue of endeavor through which men find really worthwhile purposes in life. Our town has been made better by his unselfish example of sacrifice and from these examples of citizenship community life draws its most inspiring and stabilizing influences.

The community has no better example of unselfish service than that rendered by our Firemen. Without hope or desire for material gain these men—splendid and heroic—give their time and imperil their lives many times in service to this important department of the government. By tremendous sacrifices the Firemen are maintaining in a fine way their traditions and annually they go out from this city in competative trials for honors and over a long period of years the city's laurels have perched upon the staff of victory. It is needless that we urge sympathetic co-operation on the part of the people in their forthcoming trip to the state convention but our appreciation calls forth this expression of confidence and good will.

A definite demand has been made both by the people and the state government for the erection of the disposal plant and the responsibility is squarely up to the city government. We have no fears as to willingness and the capacity of the council to meet this emergency and before the end of this year we believe a very important phase of our sanitary duty will have been performed. The bonds should be sold at once and the work started. Further delay might prove harmful to the city in risking further the patience of the state government and also by unwarranted imposition on the public health.

We have had enough of civic neglect and with so many civic bodies in Cameron it seems that the challenge to duty would appear strong enough to bring forth their best efforts in solving some of our problems. The school grounds are still neglected; the park site has gone unimproved; the matter of sewer connections in the paving area has gone unnoticed to a great extent and many other things that deserve the serious consideration of the city and the various civic organizations.

GO TO SUNDAY SCHOOL MOVEMENT SWEEPS CITY

"Go to Sunday School" on Sunday May 4th.

This is the slogan of the churches in Cameron co-operating in the Sunday school movement.

The goal for that day has been set at 1500 in the various churches.

Reports coming to the committees in charge and the pastors indicate that the goal will be reached and possibly greatly exceeded.

It will be a red letter day in the history of the local churches. Never before has such an attendance program for the Sunday schools been under taken in Cameron.

Churches are laying their plans to get their members out for the morning Sunday school hour and to get a large attendance from strangers and visitors.

Extra seating capacity will be provided for that date and classes who have set goals are planning to exceed or reach that goal on Sunday May 4.

The movement has attracted the attention of pastors, laymen, Sunday school leaders and organized classes.

As a result of the work and plans next Sunday is expected to be a great day in the Sunday schools for increased attendance.

Your church is calling you. Go to Sunday school on Sunday May 4.

Yoemen Win From Caldwell 17 To 3

The powerful Yoe High baseball team ran rough-shod over the Caldwell High team Monday and defeated them 17 to 3. The Yoe machine was hitting on all six cylinders although three regulars were missing from the line up. Big Ben Reichert was at his best Monday and only allowed 4 hits. Keith was shifted from short stop to catcher as Childress, regular, catcher was on the injured list. Keith held the backstopping position down like a veteran. The powerful Yoeman infield pulled some classy fielding. Third Baseman Hardin and First Baseman Cheeves were especially good, for several times Hardin's throws to first were low, but Cheeves always came up with the old sphere in his mitt. Shortstop Thompson and Second Baseman Baggett also handled their positions splendidly. Both accepted several chances and failed to error. Left Fielder Young hit a grand average of 1000, including a home run with three men on bases. The Wild Irishman on third (Floy Harden) also connected for a circuit drive. Denson was little but loud and held down the center field well, he received 2 hits. Duke Jenness held down the right field and handled the position like a veteran. The Caldwell crew were afraid of Jenness and walked him 3 times. They finally threw one in his reach and he spanked it good and thus got a nice single. Hardin hit two triples, one double and one single then knocked a home run. The Yoemen played fine ball Monday and could have defeated any team in Texas on that day.

Caldwell was expected to win the game by a large score but some of their home folks were sorely disappointed.

The Yoemen have several games in the near future with the following: Belton, Allen Academy, Rockdale, Temple, Killeen, Caldwell and Bryan. Coaches Stirling and Perkins have gathered together a hard hitting group of youngsters who may become big leaguers in the future.

Batteries for the game were:

Yoe High—Reichert and Keith.

Calwdell—Ellis, Hensley, Schrader

FARM CONDITIONS IMPROVED.

In spite of a very wet winter and cold and wet spring, farm conditions generally have speeded up in the last two weeks. Quite a deal of corn had to be planted over in view of the cold and wet weather and most farmers are late in the preparation of the seed bed, yet in spite of the lateness great care is being used to prepare the soil as this is generally being conceded by most progressive farmers. No small pains have been allowed by the agent in the last two years along this line. Corn is now looking very encouraging and is now ready for our first plowing while a few in different sections of the county have begun corn cultivation already. This is the plowing that will give our corn the start for rapid growth so as soon as possible every farmer should begin his corn culture, then keep it up every ten days until completed. Cotton planting is under a very rapid headway all over the county this week and if the weather -man will stay the rain a few days longer cotton over the county generally will all be about planted with a few exceptions where wet and low places prevented the preparation of the soil.

I only have one thing to regret in the farmers begining this crop this year and that is the reduction of the corn acreage and an increase of the cotton acreage. I fear we are going to be lulled by the high prices of last year's cotton crop and in the end that will only be a dream of imagination. A farmer should be a producer of food and feed stuff for man and his live stock from poultry to animals, and provide a neat income as a cash crop for man's comfort and contentment; and when we allow our feed stuff to be raised in the north from grain to hay we are unfair to our live stock and our selves. Much valuable time is lost each year hauling feed stuff from town to our farms, where teams are fed very limited amount to make it hold out with a result of time lost resting a weak team.

With this splendid season every farmer should set aside from one to five acres of land for hay crops. I am pleased to state however that in sections of the county a great increase has been made in the acreage crops, especially is this true in the west end of the county. Remember no merchant or banker is very eager to finance a farmer who must but his food, feed and feed stuff.

Easter Dawn

By Elsye Tash Sater

"'TIS Easter dawn," the lilies say,
"And Christ, our Lord, is risen today.
Let every heart be glad."
But in God's acre far away,
He lies, who once was blithe and gay;
My heart with dole is sad.

"What means the Easter dawn to me?"
I asked in gray despondency;
"My life is drenched and dead."
The lilies quivered as in pain,
"The one you love will live again,
And ever live," they said.

"Since Jesus lives, we cannot die,
For us He came on earth to buy
A life eternal. There
Within a mansion safe, they, too,
Now live, the dearest ones we knew,
Secure from pain and care."

"O lilies, teach my heart to sing
This anthem of your risen King,
That I may learn to live."
Their fragrant censers looked at me
In love, and whispered tenderly:
"Yourself more freely give."

Jerusalem, Holy City of the Jews

NEW cities in the world have had a history so varied and tragic as Jerusalem, the holy city of the Jews and the sacred city to which at Easter all Christian eyes are turned. So catastrophic have been the changes that have taken place that the modern traveler in Jerusalem can scarcely visualize the city as it existed in the time of Christ. So complete was the destruction of the old city that it has been only with the greatest difficulty that the sites mentioned in the life of Christ have been even approximately identified.

It was probably in the year 29 that the crucifixion occurred, and in 70 the city was completely destroyed by Vespasian and Titus. With the exception of several towers left as monuments to Titus, and a quarter of the city on high ground, Jerusalem was razed to the ground, and for a period of 60 years lay in ruins. It was not until 136 that the Emperor Hadrian built on the old site the new city of Aelia Capitolina as a home for veteran soldiers. Jews were rigorously excluded from Aelia, which became a typical Greek city, reflecting all the phases of Byzantine development. When the emperors became Christians the name of the city was changed back to Jerusalem, and Christian rather than Jewish memories were cherished.

In the Seventh century the Saracens captured Jerusalem, holding it until 1099, when it was wrested from the Moslems by the Crusaders, who held it for a stormy and uncertain 90 years. The Crusaders were driven out by Saladin in 1187, and from that time until the capture of Jerusalem by the British in the great World war the city was under the rule of the Moslems. Saracen caliphs, Egyptian sultans and Ottoman Turks in turn were masters of the Holy City, but it was not until 1840 that the European powers officially recognized Moslem sovereignty in Jerusalem. Through the long centuries of misrule and oppression, Christian and Jew dreamed of the day when the crescent would be driven out of Palestine forever, a day that has only recently dawned.

Taken as a whole, the Jerusalem of today is a typical Saracen city. Its more conspicuous features date from the time of Saracen occupation, and even where Saracen builders used old material they gave the remodeled architecture their own peculiar stamp that makes it Moslem. The Temple area is Saracen; the old city walls are Saracen, although the foundations are Roman. The older churches and a number of substantial structures date from the occupation of the Crusaders. Of ancient Jerusalem there is little to be discovered and much less to be seen. Little remains as it was prior to the coming of the Saracens and the Crusaders. Only a few tombs and the substructure of the Temple are left to tell the story of the Jerusalem of Christ, of David and Solomon.

AGRICULTURE

More than ten millions of our people are actively engaged in agriculture. They comprise 26.3 per cent of all persons over ten years of age engaged in a gainful occupation. Our farms represent more than one-fourth of our total national wealth. The value of our farm products in a single year is 40 per cent of that of our manufactured products—and the latter include many finished items which left the farm as raw material. Thirty-one per cent of all our exports in 1921, in terms of value, were food products of the farm.—Walter W. Head, President American Bankers Association.

The Eternal Life

By Nathan Howard Gist

THE world places a premium on attainment. It praises the man who gets things done. It erects hi sstatue in our parks and public squares that young manhood and womanhood may catch inspiration from his life, and emulate his virtues. Halls of fame give him fitting recognition and a large place. Music, literature, all art immortalize him.

Historical text-books make him the hero who led that others might follow. Great men come in groups. Epochs make them, and they make great epochs. Each is dependent on the other.

Human greatness is largely a matter of attainment. A man is great or small according to what he is able to give the world. But his output must show visible achievements and tangible results.

Now all of this is well enough. No fault can be found with such rewards, except that greatness through attainment never tells the story. The whole story cannot be related because there is much greatness of the heart. It is greatness not through doing, but in being.

In the long last effort, rather than attainment, is the greatness that counts. To disregard effort is to minimize the very force that holds the world together.

Many of the finest achievements of our world are not lasting. They are ephemeral. Books, schools and churches, empires and great nations have all lived their allotted time, accomplished their quota of good, and then perished. Such achievements are not failures by any means, but any of them may suffer the fate of oblivion.

But what about noble efforts? What about character, and service, and righteousness? What about example?

Easter is the crowning Sunday of the year because it teaches that lesson year after year. It ever brings forth the potent truth that the life eternal is the life that knows God serves the great teacher Who brought life and immortality to light, and finds life's deepest and truest meaning in service and worthy example.

There is no death when things are considered in that light. The Eternal life is measured by the immortal things of the spirit, and not by the mortal things of the flesh. It is a matter of quality, and not of quantity. It is indestructible because it is of God. It lives for all time. Not long quiescent, it is ever alive and awake to the building of the best world of which human minds, and hearts, and hands, are capable.

This is life Eternal. It is the joy and triumph of the Easter morn.

The Place Where Our Lord Lay

THE place where the Lord lay, from whence He came on Easter Sunday, the firstborn from the dead, may not have been the site of the Church of the Holy Sepulcher in Jerusalem, after all!

Recent investigations incline many to the belief that Gen. "Chinese" Gordon was nearer right in picking upon a tomb in the rock, which has the form "of a skull," and is probably the Golgotha of the crucifixion outside the city wall of Jerusalem, as being Joseph of Arimathea's appointed burial place.

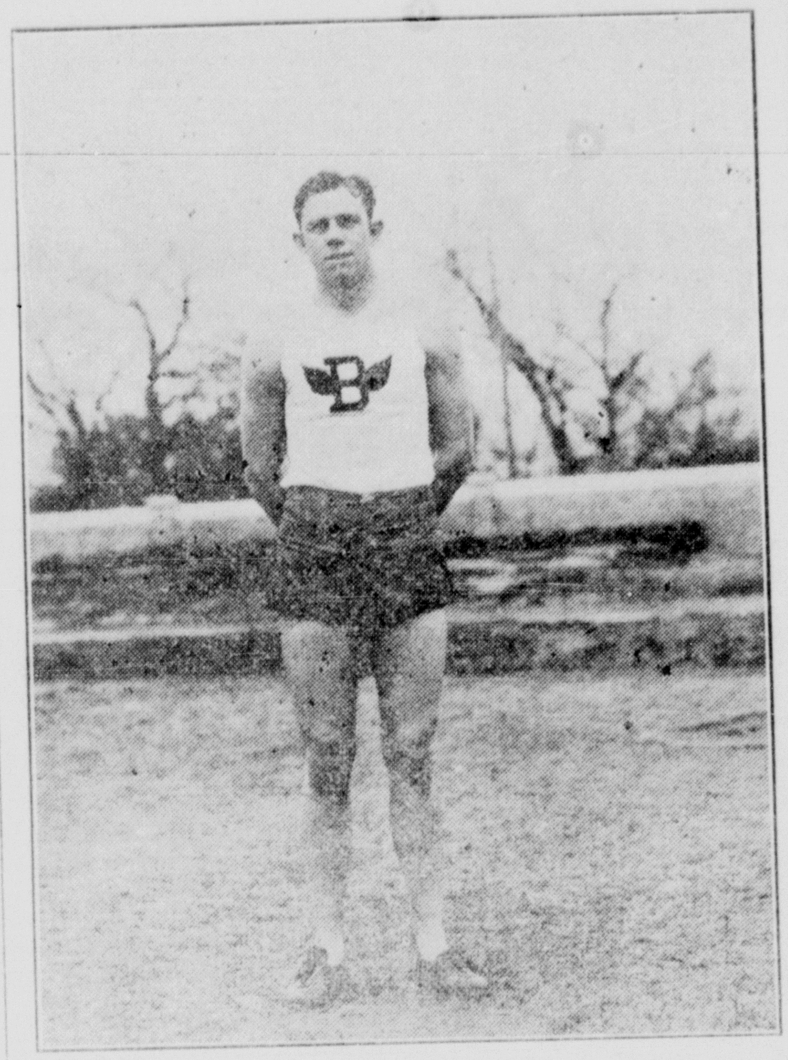
St. John tells us: "Now in the place where He was crucified there was a garden; and in the garden a new sepulcher, wherein was never man yet laid. There laid they Jesus therefore, because of the Jews' Preparation day; for the sepulcher was nigh at hand."

Holy Women at the Tomb.

That presupposes a tomb close to the place of execution, and makes probable General Gordon's presumption. St. Mark says further that the sepulcher "was hewn out of a rock," as is also this tomb.

At any rate so probable did it appear that this was the garden tomb, that in 1894 Miss Louisa Hope, an English lady, and others bought the property and formed a society to keep the garden and tomb "sacred as a quiet spot and preserved on the one hand from desecration and on the other hand from superstitious uses."

Smashes All Southwestern Conference Discus Records



JACK TYLOR

Jack Taylor, former Yoe High School athlete has smashed all Southwestern Conference records in a discus throw at Baylor University, Friends in Cameron of the star will be pleased to hear of this new record.

Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Taylor of Cameron.

A bright star loomed on the borizon of Baylor's track history when Freshman Jack Taylor of Cameron hurled the discus for the record-breaking distance of 150 feet in working out on the Baylor athletic field.

The importance of this throw can only be understood when compared with other records made. The distance in the Southwestern Conference in 1923, made by Goodman of Baylor, was only 127 feet, while the conference record, held by "Tiny" Koen of Texas A. & M., is only 132 feet six inches. The record for the high school Interscholastic league is 139 feet held by Doss Richardson of Sherman high school, now at the University of Missouri, along with Mack Keeble of Austin high school fame. The world's record is 156 feet, 1 3-8 inches.

As a result of this record made by Taylor, Coach Ralph Wolfe of the Bruin track team announced that he would be sent, along with "Mule" Frazier, to New Orleans in the spring to compete for place on the Olympic team from the United Staes.

Taylor has a good high school record having been sent last year to Chicago, with Sam Coates from Waco and other Texas high school track men. Taylor placed in the meet at Chicago but did not win first place. Under the tutelage of Coach Wolfe, Taylor has devleoped his wonderful possibilities to a marked degree and he looms as a sensation in the conference. Taylor tips the scales at around 210 pounds and is six feet four inches tall. He was a star tackle and passer on the Fish football team of the past season.

Calls have come to Jack from many conferences over the United States to participate in meets but Coach Bridges says he cannot compete because it would jeopardize his career. He is slated for the Olympic in Paris next year.

Worms that Dance on Waves Are Puzzle to Science

Millions of tiny worms that "dance" in the moonlight on the surface of the sea during the egg-hatching season, and transform the waves into the appearance of vermicelli soup, have been observed off Samoa, the Antilles, and the coast of France. They appear at the first and last quarters of the moon and in the months of May, September, October, and November only. They are so small that it is estimated that more than 1,000,000 occupy the space within the radius of a small lantern.

Police Learn Eyelid Talking to Balk the Criminal

Detectives in Canada are being taught a code by means of which they can communicate with one another by dropping, raising or other movements of the eyes, and also how to "talk" secretly by means of finger touches, by twisting of a cigar, fingering of a mustache and twiddling fingers behind the back. This is being done so that they can transfer their thoughts when in the presence of criminals or prisoners. It is declared that communication with the eyelids can be as rapid as the ordinary man typewrites.

There are now 145,000 radio sets on the farms throughout the country, which receive crop reports from 150 government wireless stations, according to recent estimates.

Alarm Clock Feeds Poultry and Turns on Lights

Poultry can be supplied with grain automatically at any desired time from a feeder operated by an alarm clock. The apparatus scatters the material in proper amounts over a 20-foot space, insuring the fowls sufficient exercise in gathering it. A switch attachment can also be made to turn electric lights on and off without interfering with the feeding mechanism. The device can be hung to the ceiling of a coop or placed over a yard, and is designed to do away with much of the care required from attendants. It is claimed that it can be filled and set for work in a few minutes.

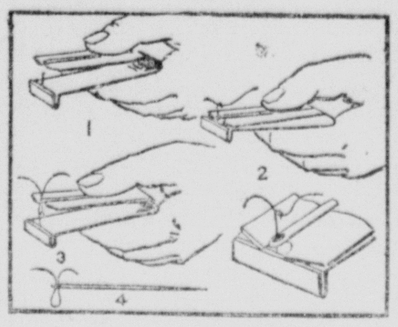
Wire Hook to Thread Needle Saves Time, Aids Eyes

To save time in threading a needle, a device has been patented in Europe recently that performs the operation quickly, even in poor light. A slight pressure of the finger pushes a hooked wire through the eye of a needle that has first been placed on top of a small spring.



Then the strand is put on the hook, which can be done by an unsteady hand, and as the grip is released the wire passes out of the needle eye, carrying the thread with it through the hole.

Removing Water from Mortar

When mixing concrete it often occurs that too much water is added, making the mixture too thin to work properly. Of course, more sand and cement can be added, but this is not always desirable, as it increases the quantity of concrete, and this may not be necessary. A good method of removing the excess of water is to place a few common bricks in the mixture for a few minutes, and it will be found that the bricks absorb so much of the water that the mixture soon becomes workable. A common brick, when thoroughly dry, will absorb about a pint of water.

Cure for Grabbing Clutch

To overcome the grabbing tendency of a clutch on a light car, a driver installed an additional pedal plate, attached to the regular pedal by means of four bolts and coil springs, the bolts fitting loosely in holes drilled for them and the springs keeping the plates separated. The bolts used are ¼ in. in diameter and 2½ in. long. They are slipped through holes drilled in the lower plate and reamed out so that the bolts can slip in and out easily when the pedal is under pressure. The auxiliary plate, being the same shape and size as the regular plate, is drilled and tapped to receive the screw ends of the bolts. Before assembling, 2-in. open coil springs, made of No. 10 brass wire, are placed over the bolts, which are then screwed into the threaded holes in the auxiliary plate until they project just a trifle; the ends are then hammered over to keep the bolt from unscrewing. Pressure applied on the pedal causes the clutch to take hold gradually, and all grabbing is eliminated.

Not much larger than a watch, a phonograph which can be slipped into the pocket and has space for ten double disk records has been invented by a Hungarian. The sound produced by the machine is said to be so amplified when it is placed on a tumbler that the tiny instrument can be used to provide music for dancing.

"It Makes For Strength"

WHILE FATHER "LISTENED IN"

By ADELAIDE R. KEMP

(©, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

MRS. ANDREWS raised her steel-bowed spectacles over her gray, neatly-parted hair and settled back comfortably in the old stuffed rocker. She watched her husband a little anxiously. On a low stool in front of their radio he was intent on "tuning in." The result at present was a mixture of catcalls and squealing from the graceful loud-speaker that stood just behind the mahogany case. She shook her head and frowned slightly.

"Why don't you stay where you are, pa?" she said. "That was a nice song. You're trying to find the band that plays the new-fangled music—jazz, I think they call it. You know you be," she added accusingly.

David held up a warning finger and shook his white head fretfully.

"Hush, ma. I can't get nothing when you talk. I'm trying to hear some of them good ones we heard last night—fox trots, they call 'em."

Ma rocked a little and looked around the modest sitting room. They might be moving along with the times, but, except for the shining instrument over which her husband was working so eagerly, the rest of the house remained the same. There in their places stood the old haircloth sofa and chairs prim and straight, and on the floor the carpet with its big roses. She had swept and dusted these things for nearly fifty years. On the mantel back of the chunk stove were her mother's candlesticks, and in the center a picture of their only boy, who had died when but a lad. She looked at it tenderly. Not many years now to wait. Above, on the wall, hung an old-fashioned sampler worked in red thread, "There is no place like home."

A sudden chuckle from her husband brought her back to the present. "Ain't that great, Jane! Hear 'em clap?" He was tapping his old slipper and keeping time to the fascinating music.

Mrs. Andrews acquiesced, but there was doubt in her heart. Was it right for David to be so much interested in such music at his time of life? Time was when every Sunday morning they had hitched up old Prince and driven sedately to the white meeting house. Now that winter was here, it was much easier to settle down in the warm sitting room and "listen in" to the beautiful service in some big city church. Through the week David loved to pick up the liveliest music in the air. Oh, shades of their Puritan ancestors! True, they had only reached their present comfort and rest through a life filled with the sternest kind of labor, isolated among the forgotten hills. Now, suddenly, like magic across their horizon, they were able to mingle and listen to the world.

There was a creak that seemed to come from the back shed. Mrs. Andrews turned her head quickly and looked out into the kitchen. It was dark there and only a dim light in the sitting room. They had been listening to a weird sort of play at the beginning of the evening and David had turned out the lights to make it more realistic.

The noise came again.

Mrs. Andrews' heart beat a trifle faster. Then she remembered Tommy, their old cat. He had a way of creeping about like that. David was far away in a western state and having a most enjoyable time. She would not disturb him.

Suddenly, before she could cry out, she felt something cold pressing against her forehead. Before her stood a short man with a cap pulled low over his eyes. In his hand he held the revolver which she felt at her head. His other hand was over her mouth and he made a motion for silence.

Another man, tall and gaunt of frame, was moving across the room toward the radio. David was shaking his head to the music which came rollicking into the room as if in sheer defiance of the tragedy about to be enacted there.

Swift, agonizing thoughts hurled themselves through Mrs. Andrews' brain. What was the use of that great horn, sending out its beautiful music, if it could not in turn receive and broadcast their message for help?

The cold steel of the revolver slipped slightly to the bridge of her nose. She gave one wild shriek.

"Janie! Janie!" David's arms were around her. She looked desperately about. The men were gone, and her husband was holding her close and patting her shoulder.

"Oh, David," she moaned, "they held a cold revolver to my head and it fell to my nose just as they were about to shoot you."

David gently took off her steel-rimmed spectacles and laid them on the table.

"Guess them's all the revolvers you felt, wife. That play was too much, and you fell asleep while I was fox-trotting. They just said 'good-night' to me out in Nebraska, anyway. Wait till I put Tommy out and we'll go to bed. It's 2 o'clock."

Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired worn-out feeling, or if the kidney secretions are offensive, irregular and attended by pain, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.

For I am the doctor of Boot and Shoe;
And I serve the living and not the dead,
With the best of leather, wax, nails, and thread.

And do a good job,and make it last.
There is nothing said about what I can do—
Doubt not my statement for work proves it true.
I can give you a lift too in this life—
Not only you but your family and wife.

REPORT OF TROOP NO. 2.

Because of a delay this troop did not leave until seven-thirty oclock. It was too late to go far so they stopped at Wilson-Ledbetter Park. A fire was made on the crest of an open hill and supper was eaten.

A prettier place could never have been found than this hill. It was clear of all obstructions and surrounded by the woods at a distance of rom 50 to 200 yards. The moon being full, this was a wonderful place to play games.

Several "tugs of war" and games of "Go-Sheep-Go" made two hours pass all too swiftly. Mr. C. S. Terry, Drayton McLane and Mr. Sterling went with the boys. In the games Mr. Terry acted as judge, while Mr. McLane and Sterling played as leaders on opposite sides.

REPORT OF TROOP NO. 3 OF THE B. S. A. IN CAMERON.

The boys met at the Courthouse at 7:00 o'clock Friday evening. They had already eaten their suppers and only two of the members of each troop carried canteens. After a hike up the S. A. and A. P. R'y at a point near the trestle, physical drill was held and fires were made afterwards. As paper had not been brought fires were made as best they could be and only two matches were used. The regular meeting was held and afterward a relay race was run and Troop No. 3's men beat the other troops. After several dashes of fifty yards, the march to town was resumed.

While going there, an amusing incident happened. As they were walking along a dark place appeared. The leader (his name need not be mentioned) seemed to see a tent and men walking about it. The road could easily be seen and looked some what like a tent and the imagination immediately did its work and created the forms of men moving about the tent. But, it happened, that there were neither men nor tent and they passed on in safety and reached town rather late.

A band concert, which will be given for the benefit of the Boy Scout organization, will be held next Friday night and there will be no meeting of the scouts.

DR. SUTTON'S TALK ON MOSQUITOES.

Last Tuesday, Dr. Sutton gave an interesting talk on mosquitoes. He told us of the different species, where they live and the harm they did.

He also drew pictures illustrating the different kinds of mosquitoes. Boy Scouts were given cards authorizing them to inspect the premises of every house for fly and mosquito breeding places. The different patrols were assigned sections of the city to inspect.

SIXTH GRADE PICNIC.

Friday afternoon April 18, 1924, immediately after school the children of the sixth grades, Chaperoned by Mrs. Kathryn Robbins, Mrs. Joe Denson, Miss Mitchell, Miss Juanita Caldwell and Mr. Sterling hiked down the railroad to Brook's pasture.

As soon as the pasture was reached some of the boys found a "swimming hole" while the other children rested for about fifteen minutes.

After this, much fun was had in playing games and swinging off an old cable tied to a tree. This fun was continued until about five o'clock, when a plentiful lunch was spread including every thing that is good to eat.

When the lunch was eaten Mr. Sterling and some of the boys ran off to go in swimming, and while they were gone the other children hunted Easter eggs. Velma Jenness found one hundred and eleven and was awarded the golden egg. Katherine Underwood found one hundred and was given the silver egg. Then the children started merrily homeward picking wild flowers on their way.

THE DOLL HOUSE.

The boys of Miss Johnson's room have been building a small house out of two piano boxes. This work is good training for the boys along that line. The house is about five feet high and eight feet wide and contains enough room for three or four children.

Material was purchased with money made in selling ice cream and candy. Miss Johnson and her fifth grade have untiringly worked for the completion of this little house and now it is nearly ready for inspection. When completed it is to be given to the children of the kindergarten.

7A REPORT.

Grammar school may not have a wonderful building but it does have wonderful teachers, who look after the welfare of the children, not only during school hours but also during out side hours and who have their interests of these children at heart at all times.

In the study hall the teachers who have charge of the various departments are as follows: Mrs. Kathryn Robbins, grammar; Mrs. Joe Denson, reading; S. Sterling and Guy Newton, arithmetic; Mr. Newton and Miss Mel Mitchell, history; Miss Susanna Jackson, Geography and Miss Gibson, writing. Each teacher is thorough and carefully trained for his particular work and every pupil has made great progress since the beginning of this school year.

BIBLE READING IN SCHOOLS.

A resolution recently adopted by the school board of San Antonio provides that passages from the scripture must be read as a part of the daily opening exercises beginning April 7th. No comment on the scriptures is allowed. Why cannot we get our school board to pass such a resolution?

Other states have had this law in effect for several years. The legislature of Alabama, influenced by the Women's Federated Clubs, was the first to pass this law. We should not wait on the legislature of our state, but get our school board to do this right away while we have a few more school days in this term. Lets follow San Antonio and end this year right. Lets not put off until tomorrow what we can do today and deprive ourselves of the blessings for these few remaining weeks.

Joan Turns

An Easter Story

By Marion R. Reagan

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

"ALL right, Elsie, let's have 'The Butterfly' next; sprightly now, brilliant, remember you're a butterfly." Miss Martin rose from the piano as was her custom, and walked back and forth across the room as little Elsie blundered on with "The Butterfly." Elsie was afraid of Miss Martin. Everybody was. Not that she was ever unkind, indeed quite the contrary. She was always most courteous, but somehow one felt that inside she was all ice with a very stiff icicle up her spine which would never allow her to unbend.

At the window opposite the piano Joan Martin paused, drew a folded letter from her waist and read again: "Not that there is anyone else, Joan, that there ever has been. I am hoping you will understand. It is simply that I feel more and more that we never could be happy together and that our engagement had better be broken now before too much comment is aroused. You know how those things are, and—" Joan crumpled the letter in her fist, her long eyes narrowed into two dark slits. She bit her lower lip hard, until it almost bled, and stood for several minutes staring out the window, seeing nothing.

Elsie finished "The Butterfly" and turned around shyly to hear what Miss Martin would say. But Miss Martin said nothing. Elsie was extremely frightened. There she stood at the window, very tall and very straight, looking quite as if the icicle had become entirely rigid. For several seconds she stood thus motionless, then she turned as though startled. "Very good, very good, but it needs more practice. Take the runs slowly, over and over. And that will be all today. I'll see you again next Thursday." Elsie was glad to get out. There was something the matter with Miss Martin today. Why did she say her playing was very good when even Elsie knew it was very bad? And she looked so funny, especially when she said good-by—

Left alone, Joan continued to pace up and down the room. The blood was rushing through her veins. Such terrible humiliation for her—for her! She had always held herself so high and aloof. Then to think that the man she had promised to give herself to had refused her—had refused her! Her head went back like that of a spirited horse and her fists clenched tightly until they almost pierced the flesh. She was glad there were to be no more lessons that afternoon. It would give her a chance to think what to do.

She would not answer the letter, since it was almost Easter and he'd be home to spend the day with his mother. She would see him then. He would be at church and would probably wait for her and take her home, voluble with reasons why it would be best for them to break their engagement. She knew Jack Reeves, but she would not give him a chance to talk to her.

Easter morning, Joan, in a smart new costume, started for the little church where she was both organist and choir leader. Under her arm she carried a large roll of music. It was to be a gala day. Never had there been such an elaborate musical program given in any church in Clearfield. She had practiced every night, determined to set the whole church astir, and particularly Jack Reeves. She would put her whole soul into playing that organ. She imagined she could see the effect it would have on him. He would be touched, sorry he had written that note, anxious for forgiveness. And then—then would be her chance to freeze him.

She walked down the street with her head high. People spoke to her with a little more than the respect she always commanded. There was frank admiration in their glances for this tall, stunning girl in the tailored blue suit. Joan was not unconscious of the effect she produced, and it pleased her enormously. The sidewalks were still wet from the rain of the night before, and spattered with fresh, red mud, washed down in little gulleys from the lawns. There was a crisp odor of earth in the air that made one keenly aware of the new life that was beginning to stir underground. A typical early spring day! The kind of day that makes one glad one is alive.

The little church was crowded to the doors. Joan walked majestically up the main aisle to take her place at the organ. She was like some ancient priestess in the serene arrogance of her bearing. And she played as she had never played before. The choir was in perfect harmony, and the congregation sang with the happy joyousness that only Easter can inspire. It was the kind of thing an organist can rightly feel proud of, and Joan was proud.

She remained at the organ long after service. She felt that somewhere in the church Jack was waiting for her, and she would let him wait! But when a half hour had passed, she put on her coat, drew on her long gloves and left the church. He was nowhere about. Could it possibly be that he would ignore her that way? Had he deliberately gone off with never even an effort to see her? She was enraged. Back of her eyes the blood rushed in angry pulses. He had canceled their engagement with a single, short note. Surely he could not be such a beast or such a coward to let the thing drop there and avoid making further explanations to her.

She hurried down the steps and walked hastily off towards the East, scarcely knowing what she was doing; nor did she realize where she was until the paved street abruptly ended and the deeply-rutted mud road began. Then suddenly she realized, with a peculiar sense of shame, like that of people in dreams when they suddenly find themselves naked in some public place, that she was walking directly towards the Reeves home. They lived down the dirt road about two miles from where she now stood. On the left was a deep ravine. There were two ruts leading off the road and down the side of the hill as if some heavy vehicle had gone over. Joan, her curiosity aroused, ran on a few yards to see what had happened. She uttered a sharp cry when on looking down she saw the turned-over body of an automobile. Quickly she ran to the nearest house and phoned the hospital and the local garage man. Almost immediately the ambulance and truck arrived. The men had difficulty in getting down the slope because of the wet, slippery mud, and even more difficulty, after they had turned over the car and had taken out the two persons pinned underneath, in carrying them up to the road.

Joan was waiting at the top of the hill. "Anyone hurt very badly?" she inquired with anxiety.

"The lady's pretty badly cut, but it doesn't look like anything serious," she was told.

The two figures were placed on stretchers and lifted into the ambulance. When Joan saw their faces she gasped, and herself got into the car to drive to the hospital.

She was sitting by a little white iron bed rubbing the pulses of a rather light-complexioned young man lying unconscious under the white sheets, when suddenly he opened his eyes. He stared at her for several minutes in half recognition; then his eyes opened wide like two large saucers. "Joan, Joan, dear, oh, I'm so glad you're here." He closed his eyes again. Joan smoothed his pillow and leaned over tenderly to kiss his white forehead.

"Oh, Jack, don't, don't go to sleep again," she coaxed. He opened his eyes and smiled happily.

"I want to, dear, so you will kiss me again. You are affectionate, aren't you? That—that's why I wrote that miserable note. I was afraid that you were like ice, and that you didn't really love me." His voice became weaker, and his eyelids slowly closed. But on his lips the smile remained.

Several weeks later little Elsie ran eagerly down the steps of the Martin home. "Oh, I like Miss Martin. I like Miss Martin!" she was saying, and in her mind she was going over the scene of the last five minutes. Joan had taken her lovingly in her arms. "Dear, you must keep up your music, even if I can't teach you any more. And if you ever come to Crawford, you must look up Mrs. Jack Reeves. Mrs. Jack Reeves, you won't forget? Because that will be my name after tomorrow." And Elsie thought she would never forget how very beautiful she looked when she said it.

APPOINTMENT ADVISORY COMMITTEE BY THE COMMISSIONERS COURT.

A petition requesting the Commissioners Court of Milam county to appoint five citizens and tax payers of this road district to serve as an advisory committee to work jointly with the County Commissioner in supervising the work on the roads and expending the money derived from the sale of the bond issue recently voted by the voters of this road district, was circulated for signatures here this week. The petition was numerously signed and when sufficient signatures shall have been secured the petition will be presented to the court for action and approval in the form of an order granting the request. The petition requested that Messrs. G. S. Summerlin, Gus. Newton, E. L. Rasberry, A. R. Ramseur and W. B. Elliott be appointed to serve on that committee.

The issue of $125,000 road bonds are expected to be sold Thursday of this week and it is hoped that a par value price can be secured. Every effort it is said will be made to speed the day when actual work will be begun on the construction and repairing the roads in this road district as a result of the bond issue.—Thorndale Champion.

KANSAS BANKER TELLS HOW HE WON FIGHT

PROMINENT MAN GIVES TANLAC CREDIT FOR HELPING HIM WIN BATTLE WITH STOMACH TROUBLE.

"That I am so strong, active and full of energy at seventy-six I can attribute only to the help I have received from Tanlac. It has won my stamp of approval I give it my unqualified endorsement."

The above statement was made, recently by M. Nightser, a retired banker and farmer, of Sedgwick, Kas. Mr. Nightser was the first president of the Farmers State Bank of this place, and is still a director. He has lived in this section for a half century and enjoys the respect and esteem of all who know him. Speaking furhter of his experience with Tanlace, Mr. Nightser said:

"Before taking Tanlac I had been trying everything for three years in my efforts to get rid of stomach trouble, but just kept on getting worse and worse. My digestion seemed wrecked and I would suffer pain and misery for two or three hours after a meal. This indigestion also made breathing difficult, and I had no appetite. Again, a spell of Flue, a few years ago, left me with such a weakness in my legs that I could hardly get about.

"I began taking Tanlac in October, 1922, and in a few weeks time my friends were stopping me on the streets to tell me how well I was looking. Tanlac had done what my wife and myself both thought impossible, uprooted all my troubles and built me up to all round good health. I consider that each bottle of Tanlac I took did me all of a thousand dollars worth of good.

"I still take Tanlac now and then as a tonic and I couldn't ask for better health and strength than I now enjoy. My appetite and digestion never fail me, I sleep fine and haven't an ailment to complain of. Tanlac will certainly stop a lot of needless suffering if it only has a chance."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

Preached In Cameron 60 Years Ago; Says World Is Growing Worse

The world is getting worse. Rev. W. G. Caperton, 87, of 521 Porter Street, a Baptist preacher for 70 years, says so. Celebrating his seventieth anniversary with the church, the Baptist Pastors Conference Monday tendered him a luncheon at the Broadway Baptist church. As an expression of appreciation for his service, a purse was presented him by the conference. Rev. Forrest Smith presided.

"There are more religious people in the world today than in past years, but the world is growing worse," declared Rev. Mr. Caperton, "because old Satan is working harder than he ever did before."

Rev. Mr. Caperton has been preaching in Texas 60 years. He was studying law in Melrose Academy in Mississippi when he became converted. "I was baptized in the morning and preached a sermon that night," the aged man said. He was 17 then.

"I decided to come to Texas because it was a new State and I knew I had the world before me," he said. "I was a circuit 'walker' when I first came to Texas. My first walk was form Houston to Cameron. The two people I met on the way admonished me against bears and wolves. So I cut a good strong stick and went my way, and finally reached Cameron, where I preached my first sermon in Texas. Since then I've been pastor of 20 churches and have preached in almost every city and hamlet in the State."

Ministers who praised the aged minister's work at the luncheon told of traveling through Texas with him at various times when he would point out an old arbor and say, "There's where I held a meeting in 1860 and had 40 conversions."

With snow white hair and white beard, the minister is not decrepit. He still preaches. Last year he held a 10-day revival meeting preaching two sermons each day.

"If the Lord is willing I will do the same thing again this year," he said.

"He teaches us how to grow old," said Rev. J. F. Sherman, as he recalled the genial, active personality of the aged minister.

"I was a Secessionist," Rev. Mr. Caperton admitted. "I didn't believe in secession. I thought we ought to elect Lincoln and then ask for our rights and if we didn't get them then was the time to take up arms, but do it under the Stars and Stripes. But my countrymen seceded and I went with them and became a chaplain in the army. Then I went back to preaching and I'm still at it."

Closing an interesting talk filled with pathos and humor, during which his audience forgot he was 87 years old and laughed freely with him as he recounted the humorous things that the years had brought. Finally he recited a poem of loneliness, of longing, of hope and faith. The lines were his own, composed when he came to Texas in his youth to lead lost souls to Chirst. It was an era of lawlessness and the minister found the State cruel and lonely.

Those who paid tribute at the luncheon to the years of service of the aged pastor were: Dr. Jeff D. Ray, Dr. C. V. Edwards, Rev. J. M. P. Worrow, Dr. W. T. Conner, Rev. J. H. Taylor, Rev. J. F. Sherman and Rev. R. F. Gibson. They reviewed incidents they remembered in the life of Rev. Mr. Caperton.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

same being the 3rd day of said month at the court house door of Milam county, in the City of Cameron, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. by virtue of said levy and said Alias Execution I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said T. P. Whittington.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Cameron Herald, a newspaper published in Milam county.

Witness my hand, this 17th day of April, 1924.

It costs less to paint than to repair

A coat of good paint on your barns and other outbuildings costs you a lot less than the repairs you'll have to make if you don't paint in time. Don't let the weather get a chance at your barn—don't let it get bare and dingy looking. Paint now—with Lowe Brothers Barn Paint. It covers and hides better than ordinary paints. That makes it cost less at first. And it holds its color and wears longer too. That makes it cost less in the end.

HOW MUCH OF YOUR BRAIN POWER ARE YOU USING?

There is a scarcity in the business office of high-priced men and women today; there are many worth a thousand dollars a year, but only a few are worth ten thousands—just a little training will make this difference. The late Prof. James of Harvard declared that the average man uses only ten per cent of his brain power. Suppose you are twice as capable as the average man, you are using only twenty percent of your maximum power, one-fifth of your greatest possibilities. It is our business to train you to the very highest point of efficiency.

Eighty-five percent of the men in this country are earning only twenty-five dollars or less per week. Ninety-two percent of those in business fail between the ages of forty and fifty. Ninety-five percent have no money at the age of sixty. Our business is to take you out of the eighty-five, the ninety-two and the ninety-five percent class.

We have been very successful in producing high salaried men and women, as shown by the letters in our catalog from our former students their parents, their employers and from prominent men and visitors to our big school. Largest business training institution in America. The largest enrollment of any commercial school in the Unitel States. Most thorough, Practical and Complete course of business training to be had in Half the time and at Half the cost of other courses in the ordinary business college. All modern office esuipment, a faculty of more than thirty trained experts.

Let us train you for business success. Fill in and mail coupon for large free book on Business Education. THE CAMERON HERALD THURSDAY APRIL 24, 1924.

Baylor Choral Club Sings In Cameron

The Baylor College Choral Club delighted a large assemblage of their friends with their regular secular concert program in the Auditorium of Yoe High School on Saturday evening. Their Cameron appearance closed a concert tour throughout South Texas of two weeks. In Cameron their program delighted music lovers who were enthusiastic in their applause. Cameron will entertain the Choral Club annually.

The director, Mrs. Allie Coleman Pierce has made many friends for Baylor College by her leadership of girls. This year Miss Olive Henderson of Cameron was complimented by Mrs. Pierce as she was introduced as violin soloist and it will be pleasantly remembered that for the 1923 tour Miss Louise Adams was vocal soloist.

Mrs. Allie Coleman Pierce announced a few program changes for the last tour performance introducing as a final number "That Old Gang O'Mine," but following in the main their accustomed secular program.

Each number was a gem and thoroughly enjayed.

On Sunday morning at the Baptist church the young ladies rendered a sacred program to a capacity audience. Rev. E. S. Hutcherson made a few introductory remarks and voiced his appreciation of the great Baptist Institution that the club represents and led in prayer for the success of its aims.

Miss Lorene Miller gave a a reading "The Heavenly Guest" which fitted most aptly into the sacred song program.

During the stay of the Club to Cameron hospitable homes were opened for their entertainment and under the direction of Miss Mary Lake Henderson the members were entertaind as follows:

By Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Adams: Mrs. Allie Coleman Pierce, director, Mrs. Etta Coleman, chaperone.

By Mr. and Mrs. Henderson: Miss Olive Henderson, Miss Angeline McCrocklin.

By Mrs. Wm. Jeter: Miss Geneveive Camp, pianist, Miss Florine Elder and Miss Olie Lee Camp.

By Mr. and Mrs. Conn Miller: Miss Dorris Finney and Miss Georgia Westbrook.

By Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rogers: Miss Virginia Fields and Miss Gladys Hood.

By Dr. and Mrs. John L. Denson: Miss Lucile Somers and Miss Adelaid Winerich.

By Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Burns: Miss Ruth Askew and Miss Ruth Bucker.

By Mr. and Mrs. Albert Triggs: Miss Blanche Venable and Miss Lorene Miller.

By Mrs. George A. Thomas: Miss Christine Hays and Miss Jewel Thomas.

By Miss Ada Henderson: Miss Aline Smith and Miss Louise Pipkin.

By Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Beckerman: Miss Corine Cochran and Miss Louise Parker.

By Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Cox: Miss Opal Brown, Miss Madrus Sturgeon.

By Mr. and Mrs. Joe Denson: Miss Frances Frazier and Miss Geneveive Redding.

By Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Preston: Vera Withers and Miss Maude Hendrickson.

RESPONSIBILITY OF THE CAR DEALER.

G. C. White- of White-House Motor Company has to say this about buying an automobil, not so much about the automobile itself—you can easily find out about cars.

But too few people realize the importance of having strong local responsibility for the cars they select. And you can't determine the value of local responsibility by merely looking at cars or car specifications.

When you buy a car, consider the proposition from the viewpoint of a year or two in the future. Today, you get a nice new car, but what about tomorrow? Today the sum total of your requirements are represented in the car itself—but after you get the car your wants are different. It takes more than merely a car salesman to meet the requirements of car ownership.

This institution exists to sell automobile transportation.

If all we sold was a car, we wouldn't need anything but a showroom and a fountain pen. Come in some day and see the things that exist here to serve the man who buys a car.

Have Kidneys Examined By Your Doctor

Take Salts to Wash Kidneys if Back Pains You or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

MAKES RAPID HEADWAY.

Add This Fact to Your Store of Knowledge.

Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired worn-out feeling, or if the kidney secretions are offensive, irregular and attended by pain, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Your townspeople recommend Doan's Pills. Read the statement of this Cameron citizen:

H. R. Williams, farmer, says: "My experience with Doan's Pills has been such that I heartily recommend them to anyone who has kidney complaint. I have taken Doan's when I have been suffering with sore muscles and backache. They have always given me the best satisfaction and for that reason, I am glad to endorse them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Williams had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. (H)

Why an Automobile Dealer Needs More Than a Desk

This advertisement isn't going to tell you why an automobile dealer needs more than a desk—think it out for yourself.

We'll tell you this much—the car owner himself is responsible for the fact that the automobile dealer added service and parts departments, accessories, and the things which make up the establishment of the modern automobile dealer. Ownership of an automobile demands more than merely a desk and supply.

Easter Chimes

By Charles Nevers Holmes in Living Church

RING out, O chimes of Easter Morn!
The shadows from the tomb are gone,
Its heavy stone is rolled away,
Proclaim Christ's resurrection day!

Ring out, O bells, while we forget
The worldly things which vex and fret,
Whilst we acclaim the Christ that bled,
Our Saviour risen from the dead!

Ring out, ring out, with blithesome voice,
Be jubilant, rejoice! Rejoice!
And, far and near, announce to men
That Jesus Christ now lives again.

Ring out, O joyful, joyous chimes!
Proclaim the advent of good times;
Dispel forever fear and doubt—
Ring out, O Easter bells, ring out!

HARDWOOD SAW MILL BEING ESTABLISHED AT ROCK CROSSING.

William Rogers, of Lometa, Texas, is now engaged in installing a saw mill at Rock Crossing on the Yegua creek, about nine miles south of Rockdale. The industry is of considerable size and scope, and timber leases have been secured on a large acreage in that vicinity. Mr. Rogers' plant will cost $10,000 or $15,000, and includes a 50-horse-power boiler.

The industry is on land owned by Hon. T. S. Henderson, of Cameron, but timber will be cut from land owned by a number of citizens of Milam and Lee counties. There is a large amount of harwood timber in that section, affording suitable materials for heavy timbers of all kinds. Mr. Rogers' first orders consist of contracts with the State and Federal Highway Department for thirty cars of bridge timbers.—Rockdale Reporter.

AT CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY.

If I know you and you know me,
How little trouble, there'd be,
We pass each other on the street,
But just come and let us meet,
AT CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY.

Each one intends to do what's fair,
And treat his neighbor on the square
But he may not quite understand
Why don't you take him by the hand
AT CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY.

This world is sure a busy place
And we must hustle in the race
For social hours some are not free
The six week days, but all should be
AT CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY.

We have an interest in our town
The dear old place must not go down
We want to push good things along
And we can help some if we're strong
AT CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY.

Don't knock and kick and slam and slap
At everybody on the map
But push and pull and boost and boom
And use up all the standing room
AT CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY.

Preacher and Former Klan Member Tells Why He Quit Fold of Invisable Empire

Rev. W. L. Svans, Baptist preacher and former member of the Ku Klux Klan at Corpus Christi, spoke in Cameron Saturday night to a large audience in the District Court room on "why he quit the Ku Klux Klan."

W. G. Gillis, introduced the speaker in well chosen remarks and his usual good style. Rev. Evans immediately launched into a discussion of his subject and in part said:

Not during the World War, and not since the Civil War between the States, and may be not in all America's history, has there been so great a need for real men as today. Men of unselfish vision and devotion, who can see the needs of the hour, and with loyalty and patriotism give themselves to their country's call. Men with big hearts and clean hands, who will not be led into dividing groups and classes of our people, to wage war on other groups and classes because of religious, racial, partisan differences, but who will lead us forward to heights of greater progress as we march on together as a great cosmopolitan people. Failure to come to the help of our country now is worse than treason during a foreign war; for a war among ourselves, dividing us asunder as a people and devouring each other, is worse than any foreign war. Such is our condition today. To say the peace of our citizenship is disturbed and confused, would be but to mock us in the real conditions we find ourselves at this hour. The peace of our citizenship is torn asunder, and our people have never been so hurtfully divided as now. This division is far more serious than any that has divided us before, for the line runs through almost every community in the nation; through business and profession; through church and lodge, and into many homes that are divided, and on even to the cemetery, the last resting place of the dead.

Sixty years ago Abraham Lincoln stood at Gettysburg with bowed and uncovered head and delivered the world's greatest memorial and patriotic address. He said, "Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent, a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal." It seems strange that we are so soon called upon to reestablish that fact of equal rights and liberty for all the people. For again we are engaged in a civil war of strife, testing whether that nation so conceived can long endure. True this civil war has not yet come to armed forces, but we are surely headed in that direction, and unless God gives us men, real men, to lead us out and away from this devouring peril, we shall find ourselves hopelessly dying in each others blood. To say that a certain kind of men are the only good Americans; and that only native born white gentile Protestants are one hundred per cent Americans, is not only unkind and unfair to a large part of our citizenship but is wholly untrue and unworthy of American ideas of unity and liberty. We have never before raised the question of a man's religion or previous nationality. As a free and liberty loving people we welcome others to enjoy these rights and blessings with us. We only asked that they become Americans in their loyalty and devotion to our constitution and flag. Now with such a large part of our nation not able to qualify as good Americans, under the new brand of Americanism that a man must be a native born white gentile Protestant, we find ourselves divided, and that an un-American line of division. For truly it has never been American before to make these kind of dividing lines. It is Americanism against Americanism, but which is the true type of Americanism? Is it the one hundred per cent brand, which divides our people up into groups and classes based on religion and previous nationality, with one class of citizens making war on the other class? Or is it the Abraham Lincoln type of Americanism, which recognizes many religious and no religion, with many nationalities in this "New nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal?" As for me, I take the Abraham Lincoln type of Americanism, and I feel that we must rally to this standard of equal rights and liberties for all our people, or else we perish in civil strife. I say this not as a Jew, a Catholic, or foreigner, but as a native born white gentile Protestant. I say this, because it ought to be said, and because it is American and Christian to say it.

In closing the great Gettysburg address Lincoln said, "It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth." It seems strange that we are again called on to give the people of this nation a "New birth of Freedom," and that the government of an Invisible Empire," ruled by a FEW people, shall not destroy the government of ALL the people. Let the open government of all the people with its constitution, wih its constitued laws and authority, live and rule; but let the "Invisible Empire" that would take away the rights of even the humblest citizen die and be forgotten. We do not need an "Invisible Government" to take care of the rights of any group or class of citizens, or which would deny equal rights to another class of citizens. Our constitutional government, which seeks the equal protection of all our citizenship, must forever be the only government we know. This is absolutely fundamental and necessary. Anything else means ruin.

But just here we have a strange conflict of ideas among our people. For many good people, who have been led into the "Invisible Empire," feel that through this agency they are to protect themselves against the foes of American traditions and liberties. They have been misled and fooled by high sounding phrases and fanatical statements of great principles under the guise of constitutional loyalty to believe that such an organization is needed. When as a matter of fact, if the spirit and methods of the "Invisible Empire" were only carried out, the great principles for which they stand would be destroyed. For instance, the great principle of liberty; personal liberty, political liberty, religious liberty and liberty of equal protection under the laws and constituted authority, all would be destroyed in their large American meaning, if the rule of the Invisible Empire should prevail. Only the rights and liberties of the membership of this organization would be protected. And even they, divided among themselves, would devour each other. They would be the final victims of their own narrow and selfish propaganda, which in the end would destroy themselves. There is so much apparent good sandwiched into this invisible organization, with its secrecy and mysticism, with its religious zeal and oath bound power, that many good men have been deceived and led away from their previous broad American ideals into a narrow klannish intolerance, which has not only changed them from what they were, but has also created around them a hurtful atmosphere of strife and hate. These conditions must be changed. The thinking of our people must be lifted above this klannish strife and hate. True Americanism with equal rights to all must be held up as our ideal, and the people, regardless of religion or previous nationality, regardless of this or that organization to which they may belong must be called and rallied to take their stand as patriots for the common good of our American civilization. The great Master said, "A house divided against itself cannot stand," and the same thing is true of a community, state, or nation.

In closing, let me make an earnest appeal for men, real men and patriots, to come to the call of our country—our America, with all her sacred traditions of equal rights and liberties—and take your stand in the open to help maintain these liberties for yourself and your children, and for all the people. Do not be a spineless coward and refuse or neglect to take your stand in the open as a real man. Do not let selfish interest hold you with influences, which you know to be wrong. Let men in high and low places, in all callings everywhere, come out and take their stand. Not in a hateful spirit of intolerance and fighting back, but in a spirit of manly peace and good will. Failure to do your duty now; failure to come to the help of your country's call; failure to show yourself a man in an hour like this, would be to mark you as unworthy of our day and generation. The ministry, which has led us in so many forward steps with their open appeal, can greatly help just now. Let them preach a Gospel of love and peace, and let them lead the people out of this wilderness of wondering, hate and strife in which we find ourselves. The preachers have a great opportunity to show themselves real men, real prophets of God and preachers of the Gospel, if only they will lead us right now. They need not, and ought not, to abuse anybody, but just preach the Gospel of Peace and Love, and lead the people to follow the Man of Galilee, whose heart and sympathies were large and broad enough to take in all mankind. God give us men in this hour! The church calls for men! America calls for men, real patriots, in this her greatest hour of trial! And the world calls for them, unselfish good men, who will give themselves without stint. Ester, the beloved queen of an ancient past, left us a most worthy example for an hour like this. When Mordecia told her of the opportunity that was hers to save her people, in the face of possible death, she went to the king with her message, saying, "If I perish, I perish." So let men take their stand in the open on the side of true Americanism, regardless of the apparent loss, and regardless of the sacrifice it may take.

For I am the doctor of Boot and Shoe;
And I serve the living and not the dead,
With the best of leather, wax, nails, and thread.

And do a good job,and make it last·

Worn out and run down, besides feeling sore;
Though I don't use poultices, plaster or pill,
I cure all sick shoes no matter how ill."
